The Christmas Story

Illustrated by Hal Foster

JOSEPH was amazed and awed when Mary, the maid to whom he was betrothed, told him that she was with child by the Holy Ghost. Joseph, confused and puzzled, knew not what to do until an angel appeared, saying:

"Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost.

"And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name JESUS: for he shall save his people from their sins."

BOARD VOTES TEACHERS $100 SALARY BONUS

Full Time Employes Also To Share in Distribution Dec. 15.

Teachers and other full time employes of the Marion public school system, with the exception of the superintendent, will receive a salary bonus of $100 and each regular part time employe, excepting the clerk, will receive a fraction of that sum based on the proportion of time employed, with the issuance of the December pay check, it was voted at the monthly meeting of the board of education, last night in the school administration building. The money, less retirement deduction and withholding tax as required by law, will be added to the Dec 15 pay checks.

The action, which was voted unanimously, is in keeping with the board's policy voiced some time ago, of making additional salary distribution to employes any time there are additional funds available. While there are not unencumbered funds available at present for this payment, the action was taken in view of the rising cost of living and in anticipation of possible future increased income from state and local sources.

Sick Leave Increased

At this time also the board voted to increase the accumulated sick leave from 20 to 30 days, effective as of this year. Other matters of business included the raising of the rent of the Edison auditorium. During the discussion it was pointed out that the present rate did not cover the cost of opening the building, lighting, heating and services of custodians. Effective Jan. 1, 1949, the charge for use of the building will be as follows: $10 when no heat is furnished and no admission charge; $20, heat furnished and no admission charge; $40, admission charged. These rates include one rehearsal and also the use of two classrooms adjoining the auditorium for dressing rooms. Additional rehearsals will be at the rate of $10 per night with the use of additional rooms at the rate of $5 per room if large room is used and $2 if classroom is used. The cost of opening the auditorium for an evening is $12 for coal, $1.25 per hour for lights and $5 for custodian. At present the charges are $7.50 for the auditorium if no heat is furnished and no admission charged, $10 if heat is furnished and no admission charged, and $25 if there is an admission charged. The action was taken after the matter was discussed with the principal, J. E. Prew, the superintendent of buildings and the bookkeeping department.

Consider New Building

A portion of last night's meeting was devoted to the discussion of the proposed new junior high school on North State street. School patrons and other residents of the Mark, Oak and North Main Street school districts are interested in abandoning the Central Junior High school as soon as possible. It was brought out in an informal meeting of a group from these school districts held with the board recently. At this meeting it was urged that the board call for bids on the erection of the new junior high school as soon as plans and specifications are drawn. This action, the board decided last night, will be taken as soon as the plans and specifications are received from the architect, which probably will be in February.

Supt. Lester L. Dickey reported that the schools will cooperate with the city health department and the state department of health in conducting a hearing test for all fourth grade children the last week in January. It also was reported that the Marion Altrusa club had provided an audiotory training unit, one of the newest and best equipped, for the band of hearing class.

School will adjourn for the holiday vacation Dec. 17 and classes will be resumed Jan. 3.

THIRTY-THREE SURVIVORS of a mid-Pacific air crash were pulled from the water last night by a crew of a Navy aircraft carrier near Johnson Island, indicated by the arrow on the above map. The rescue came after the men had clung to two small life rafts for 40 hours. The heavy and broken lines indicate the plane's course from Okinawa to Spokane, Wash.

1 Dead, Million Loss In Fire at Fremont

By The United Press

FREMONT, O., Dec. 7—One fireman was killed and three others received minor injuries in a fire that raged out of control for six hours today and destroyed the city's largest department store.

Firemen from 10 adjoining cities and towns succeeded in bringing the blaze under control at 6.30 a. m. (EST) after flames had threatened to engulf the entire business block.

The blaze leveled the newly remodeled Joseph's department store and destroyed the firm's entire Christmas stock. Police estimated the damage would run "at least $1,000,000."

Police said there was no fire damage to three adjoining buildings but added that water damage to stocks of four small firms would be "excessive".

William Kettner, 34, a Fremont fireman and father of two children was killed when knocked from a ladder by a hose nozzle. Fire Chief Urban S. Myers, James Briggs, and Alfred Mann, assistant fire chief at nearby Clyde, suffered minor injuries from falling debris.

The blaze broke out shortly before midnight and was believed to have started in the basement of the department store. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Extra fire companies were summoned from Toledo, Sandusky, Port Clinton, Fostoria, Tiffin, Clyde, Bellevue and nearby townships.

Firemen battled successfully to keep the flames from reaching three adjoining building occupied by the Miller-Jones Shoe Co., Nobil's Shoe Co., Joseph's Wallpaper and Paint Co., owned by the department store, and Bintz's, a ladies ready-to-wear store. Water loss to the stores was excessive.

Firefighters were hampered by a lack of water and at one time it was reported there was only an hour's supply left.

Hoses were laid across the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad tracks and all trains into the city were halted for a time. State highway patrolmen detoured all automobile traffic.

Louis Danziger, owner of Joseph's said he planned to rebuild immediately. The store was remodeled and modernized and an annex was erected less than a year ago.

OWNED BY MARIONITE

The T. A. Bintz Co. store, mentioned in the list of stores damaged in the Fremont fire, is owned by a former Marion man, Theodore Bintz, son of Mrs. A. L. Bintz of 570 East Center street.

MARION PATROL HELPS

Two patrolmen from the Marion substation of the highway patrol left early this morning to aid firemen and police throughout northern Ohio in battling the Fremont fire.

Chambers Goes Before Jurors

Confessed Former Spy Courier Also Heard by House Committee.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—Another day of questions before a spy-hunting federal grand jury today confronted Whittaker Chambers, confessed courier for a pre-war Communist espionage ring.

Chambers testified before the grand jury at length yesterday and was closeted until early this morning with members of the house un-American activities committee, who hastened here to talk with him.

Chambers' appearance before the grand jury coincided with the committee's disclosure that the ex-Communist previously had accused Alger Hiss, former state department official, of slipping him "restricted" documents for delivery to a Russian agent.

He and Hiss went before the grand jury yesterday in a follow-up to committee reports of new and startling evidence of a pre-war Communist underground. Neither Chambers nor Hiss would disclose the nature of their testimony.

This same evidence, uncovered in a hollowed-out pumpkin on Chambers' Maryland farm, is the object of today's house committee session, to which Chambers was summoned.

While Chambers and Hiss were testifying in secret before the grand jury, the house group in Washington was publishing sworn testimony by Chambers that Hiss got government documents for a Russian agent.

Hiss Voices Denial

Hiss countered immediately by saying "I deny without qualification the accusations made in that testimony."

As this new chapter in the long Hiss-Chambers case unfolded, Rep John Rankin (D-Miss), a member of the house committee, said today he is "convinced" the Russians fed purloined U S secrets to the Japanese before and during the war.

This, he added, in a statement at Washington, "contributed to bringing on Pearl Harbor."

Rankin said "someone in the state department was guilty of espionage." But he did not name any one.

"Russia had a Japanese ambassador in Moscow during the entire war, right up to the dropping of the atomic bomb," he said. "I am convinced that the Russians fed this information they received from the state department files to the Japanese ambassador and that this contributed to bringing on Pearl Harbor."

Chambers' charges that Hiss piped out government papers which went to the Russians were disclosed by Rep. Richard M. Nixon (R-Calif), chairman of the un-American activities sub-committee.

Testimony came from preliminary proceedings in a $75,000 libel suit Hiss has filed against Chambers, and named a "Colonel Bykov" as a Russian agent to whom Hiss allegedly gave the documents.

OHIO ASSEMBLY GRANTS TB AID

Appropriates $1,000,000 for OSU Hospital; None for Apple Creek School.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7—The Ohio legislature's "lame duck" special session took nine hours last night to pass a lone bill appropriating an extra $1,000,000 for a new tuberculosis hospital.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, who had asked for nearly twice that amount, said he will sign the emergency appropriation into law promptly.

The 97th general assembly ended its one-day session after granting the governor just half a loaf.

He wanted an additional $2,000,000 for a new rehabilitation building at the Apple Creek State School for Feeble Minded near Wooster.

The governor said in addressing a joint house-senate meeting the money was needed to prompt construction bids tumbling in a few days.

The legislature previously appropriated $1,000,000 for the "lame" hospital at Ohio State university's medical center but it wasn't enough to meet mounting construction costs.

Barely Passed

The $1,000,000 appropriation barely got through. It needed 22 votes to pass the house as an emergency measure so the money would be available before construction bids expired Dec. 10.

The emergency clause got exactly that total when House Speaker C. William O'Neill (R-Washington) voted for the first time since holding that office.

The vote was 22 to 17 on the emergency, three Democrats jumping party lines to approve the measure. They were Reps A. G. Lanciono of Belmont county, Paul Hinkle of Mercer county and Lee D. Kepner of Trumbull county.

The vote on the bill itself,

DONALDSON TO ASK MAIL RATE BOOST

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec 7—Postmaster General Donaldson said today he will ask the new congress to boost rates on all mail except first class.

Donaldson told newsmen that higher rates "will have to come on all low revenue-producing mail."

He talked with reporters at the White House after conferring with President Truman, but said he had not discussed the matter with Mr. Truman.

He said the President is "not acquainted" with the situation, but he will be.

In reply to a question, Donaldson said he would ask congress to increase rates after clearing the matter through the White House and the budget bureau.

He said increases will be asked for second class mail, newspapers and magazines; third class, circular and advertising; fourth class, parcel post; and special services, such as money orders.

Donaldson told reporters the postoffice department will have an all-time record deficit of $650,000,000 at the close of this fiscal year next June 30.

FOUND ON TWO RAFTS AFTER 40-HR. SEARCH

Exhausted Survivors Saved from Shark-Filled Waters; Four Lose Lives.

By The Associated Press

HONOLULU, Dec. 7—A Navy aircraft carrier last night rescued 33 exhausted survivors of a mid-Pacific plane crash, ending a dramatic 40-hour air-sea search.

The air force men were picked up in shark-infested waters from two overcrowded life rafts.

Four others were given up as dead.

Today the Navy issued a list of the 33 men picked up by the escort carrier Rendova in rolling seas. It did not include the names of these four men, previously listed as among the 37 passengers on the ill-fated air force C54 transport:

Staff Sgt. Joseph L. Smit, Stockton, Kans.

Staff Sgt. William A. Calvin Jr., Cross City, Fla.

Sgt. Robert C. Harrell, Milledgeville, Ga.

Sgt. Charles T. Millspaugh, Port Jervis, N. Y.

The survivors were all in an advanced state of exhaustion from 40 hours on or clinging to the life rafts. Two were unconscious and had to be hoisted aboard the carrier in a boat. Almost all the others had to be helped aboard the Rendova.

All 33 rafts crammed on or around just like rafts, each built to accommodate only seven men.

Eleven more rafts were all they could find and indicate after the plane "ran out of oil and altitude" and crashed into the ocean 1,200 miles southwest of Honolulu in the early darkness last Sunday morning.

The two rafts were lashed together, Lt. Col. William R. Calhoun of Birmingham, Ala., the plane's pilot, reported in a radiophone interview from the Rendova.

Take Turns on Outside

While sharks circled them, the men took turns hanging on the outside of the rafts in the ocean, or resting on the crowded surfaces. At one time, the pilot said, 10 men were perched atop his raft.

All of the men got seasick. But they were always cognizant of rescue. Nevertheless Calhoun issued rations sparingly, ready to stretch their supplies over five days. Each man was limited to only three sips of water until rescue planes sighted them in midafternoon yesterday and dropped additional supplies.

The rescue plane found them because its navigator—Ensign L. R. Johnson of Minneapolis—wanted to make "just one more try." Johnson asked for the extra run after Lt. Commander Steve G. Kona of Hammond, Ind., ordered his searching Privateer to turn back to its Johnston Island base. In six minutes on the extra search the life rafts' green dye marker was sighted directly beneath the Privateer.

Kona said the survivors "were hanging on the gunwales—half inside, half outside."

Sharks Always There

Calhoun reported his men saw sharks circling them from the time they "ditched" the plane until they were picked up.

"We had shark repellent aboard the raft and used it at all times to keep them away," Calhoun said.

He said to the best of his knowledge everybody got out of the plane when it hit the ocean 1,200 miles southwest of Honolulu.

But Capt. James M. Lane of the Rendova radioed that two men went down with the plane. He said another died Sunday night and a fourth jumped overboard Monday after more than 30 hours on a raft in the shark-infested waters.

All survivors were "well and happy" when rescued, and Calhoun sounded calm as he told the story over the radiophone from the Rendova.

"We didn't decide to ditch," Calhoun said. "We just ran out of altitude" after two of the planes' four engines failed on a flight from Okinawa. Everything possible just from jettisoned to keep the plane in the air as long as possible.

The plane sank in 13 minutes.

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 7—Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's wife and Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, former commander of U. S. forces in China, arrived here today aboard the C-54 transport plane that broke down in the Pacific, the Spokane Air Force base announced yesterday.

MARSHALL SUBMITS TO KIDNEY OPERATION

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—Secretary of State Marshall was operated on for a kidney ailment today at the Army's Walter Reed hospital. Hospital authorities reported the operation was successful.

The eventual results of the operation may determine whether the 67-year-old Marshall will remain very much longer as President Truman's secretary of state.

The state department announced the operation was performed and the hospital then reported:

"The operation was successful. The secretary is doing excellently. No complications are anticipated."

Both the state department and hospital called it a "kidney operation." Neither would say specifically what the trouble was or how serious the operation was considered.

Marshall will be 68 years old Dec. 31. He has been secretary of state since January 1947. Before that he ran the American Army as chief of staff and helped plan this nation's global strategy against the axis.

REPORT RAISE IN RENTS REJECTED

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—The White House has rejected a proposal to raise all rent ceilings by 15 per cent, government sources reported today.

The general increase, these sources said, was suggested last week by Robinson Newcomb, chief housing economist on the staff of the President's council of economic advisers.

John R. Steelman, assistant to the President, turned thumbs down on the plan it was reported, however, that the council has neither rejected nor accepted it as part of its recommendations.

A recent administration survey was reported to have shown that landlords don't need a general increase. On an average they make more money than before the war, the survey indicated, largely because they aren't troubled with vacancies.

Jap Pearl Harbor Sub Survivor Tired of War

Seven years ago today—Dec. 7, 1941—185 Japanese warplanes and five Japanese midget submarines delivered the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor which drew the United States into the Second World War. When the attack ended hours later, eight American battleships and 10 other vessels had been sunk or damaged, 177 American planes destroyed, and 3,303 Americans killed or fatally wounded. In the following dispatch the sole Japanese survivor of the submarine attack voices his recollections of the event and also his views on war seven years after.

By IAN MUTSU

NAGOYA, JAPAN, Dec. 7—Kazuo Sakamaki, only Japanese survivor of the midget submarine attack on Pearl Harbor seven years ago today, has had enough of war.

He says he is "not so happy" about the world situation, but adds:

"If another war comes along, I would want to stay out of it—remain strictly neutral."

Sakamaki, 30, works quietly as a clerk in the Toyoda truck company here. He is a moderately happy man, married to a bride of his own choice and the father of a round-cheeked, almond-eyed son.

He no longer believes that he disgraced himself, his family, his ancestors, his country, the imperial Japanese navy and his emperor by being captured after his submarine grounded off Pearl Harbor.

He is glad he became the first Japanese war prisoner of World War II.

Once Eager to Die

But seven years ago, Sakamaki was one of five officers who set forth in five midget submarines ready, indeed eager to die for the glory of his country in the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

Each submarine carried two persons. Each was 74 feet long, weighed 30 tons, had a maximum speed of 24 knots and a cruising range of about 400 miles, and was equipped with radio transmitters and two bow torpedoes.

Sakamaki recalled vividly how his midget submarine was launched from its "hangar" on the afterdeck of a mother submarine 30 miles off Pearl Harbor on the moonlit night of Dec. 6. He was 23 years old then.

His orders read to coordinate an underwater attack with the aerial bombardment of Pearl Harbor. He was instructed to attack, in order, aircraft carriers, battleships and heavy cruisers.

"I said goodbye to the captain of the mother sub and 10 minutes later we surfaced so that we could enter our midget submarines," he said.

Gyrocompass Broken

"It was then I got a nasty shock. My gyrocompass was out of commission. Why, I don't know. There was no time for repairs. After consulting the captain, I decided to attempt to make the journey anyway."

Without the gyrocompass, Sakamaki said he found craft almost unmaneuverable and unmaneuverable.

"But I finally got to the entrance to Pearl Harbor just before 7 a. m.," he said. "We were to attack at 7:30."

For the next three hours, he said, he "hung around" Pearl

MAHONEY IS CHOSEN OHIO SENATE LEADER

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 7—A Democratic caucus today chose Senator Margaret A. Mahoney of Cleveland senate majority floor leader in the 98th general assembly which opens Jan. 3.

Democratic members-elect of the senate said the vote was unanimous.

The caucus named Dwight L. Matchette of Greenville senate clerk.

Previously, Senator Howard M. Metzenbaum, Cleveland attorney, had withdrawn as a candidate for majority floor leader.

In a statement issued just before a Democratic caucus, Senator Howard Metzenbaum, Cleveland attorney, said he was withdrawing in favor of Senator Mahoney.

His withdrawal left three candidates in the field for senate president pro tem—Senator Mahoney; William M. Boyd, Cleveland real estate man and former senator, and Clingan Jackson, Youngstown newspaperman.

Metzenbaum's statement follows:

"I am withdrawing my name as a candidate for the position of president pro tem from consideration by the Democratic caucus. Although more than a majority of the Democratic senators-elect have pledged their support of my candidacy, I feel that full and complete Democratic harmony in the coming session can best be assured by the election of Senator Mahoney. Therefore, I have asked her to offer herself as a candidate. It is my hope that all Democratic senators-elect will support her and thus assure the fulfillment of Governor Lausche's program. which required only a majority for passage, was 106 to 2. In the senate, the vote on both the emergency clause and the bill was 29 to 0.

An earlier GOP house canvas knocked out the Apple Creek appropriation by a vote of 55 to 19.

Killed in Senate

The house also passed resolutions asking the governor to expand his special session to permit consideration of two other proposals but they were killed in the senate. Only matters recommended by the governor can be considered at special sessions.

One proposal was an often-sought method of dividing Cuyahoga county into districts each having one senator and not more than three representatives. The county now has six senators and 18 house members.

The other proposal sought to grant probate judges, who also serve as juvenile jurists, salary increases when they start six-year terms next February. Jurists who would have been affected are in Lorain, Clark, Columbiana, Allen, Muskingum, Tuscarawas, Ross, Wood, Wayne, Lake, Seneca, Portage and Marion counties.

The senate confirmed 17 gubernatorial appointments to various state boards. They included Sen. John W. Bricker as trustee of Ohio State university and Ray T. Hughes of Columbus as trustee of Wilberforce university's State College of Education and Industrial Arts.

Two house resolutions congratulated the Cleveland Indians for winning the World Series and the Cleveland Browns for annexing the western division title of the All-America football conference. It also wished the Browns success in its coming league championship fray.

The appropriations battle turned on whether it was the emergency the governor termed it.

16 Democrats Disagree

"These aren't emergency matters," insisted Democratic Minority Leader John F. Cantwell of Youngstown. Three of the 16 house Democrats disagreed with him in the final vote, however.

The governor in his special session address said: "If we reject the bids now and re-bid the projects at a later date, the costs will undoubtedly be greater and there will be indefinite delay in getting the projects under way."

During extended house debate on the appropriations, Rep. Anna F. O'Neil (D-Summit) offered an amendment asking $260,000 for equipment at the Akron receiving hospital. It was voted down. A similar senate amendment died in committee.

The "lame duck" get-to-gether was the third special session of the 97th general assembly. The first was Dec. 3, 1947, when $20,000,000 was appropriated for veterans bonuses. The other was last July when the penny sales tax was repealed, $5 monthly added to maximum old age and indigent blind pensions and additional poor relief money voted.

SAYS PHONE CUT-OFF COST HER $24,000

By The Associated Press

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Dec. 7—Mrs. A. H. Moeller says she was cut off from $24,000

The Cheyenne woman said she was called by telephone Saturday night to stand by for a question worth that much on the "Sing It Again" radio show. Ready with the correct answer, she was disconnected.

Mrs Moeller said she was ready to identify the program's mystery man, Red Grange of Illinois football fame. Before the announcer reached her, Mrs. Moeller was told by a telephone operator her call would have to be interrupted because of another "important" long distance call to Cheyenne

She was disconnected. The announcer in New York said he didn't know what had happened but she must have stepped away from the phone He contacted Mrs. Margaret Ash, 83, of Watertown, N. Y., who identified Grange and won the prizes

In New York, Rockwell Tito, director of the program, said the call was not disconnected in the studio. He said there have been similar disconnections before but none have been traced to interruptions on the three studio lines.

George Redhair, Wyoming manager of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Co., said the call was not disconnected locally. He said an investigation so far has not traced the break.

REDS DOOM 5 WHO TRADED WITH WEST

By The United Press

BERLIN, Dec. 7—A Russian-appointed German court imposed death sentences for economic sabotage today on five Germans charged with trading through the black market with the western sectors of Berlin and western Germany.

Three of the five were sentenced in absentia because they already had fled to the west before the charges were filed. The sentences were announced by the Soviet-German news agency ADN.

Three others were sentenced to 15 years each in prison, one to 10 years and one was acquitted.

Western officials said the trials, which the Russians publicized widely, were an attempt to frighten Soviet-zone Germans so they would not deal in economic channels with the west.

By branding this as economic sabotage, the Soviet also were able to put forward an excuse for the failure of Russian zone economy, western officials said.

bers pledged to me to support her."

Democratic members-elect of the new Ohio general assembly meeting Jan. 3 began flexing their muscles today.

Leaders of the party, which won control of the 97th legislature from Republicans, called caucuses for members of both houses to map strategy.

Rep. John F. Cantwell of Youngstown, minority leader in the present house, apparently held the inside track for speaker at the next session. He would succeed C. William O'Neill (R-Washington), present house speaker, who is expected to become minority leader.

Others bidding against Cantwell for the speakership include James M. Carney, Cleveland attorney, and Ray M. White, Millersburg publisher; and Stephen A. Zona, Cleveland attorney.

The new house clerk, leading Democrats hinted, may be Delbert Nixon of Stratton, former Democratic representative from Jefferson county.

Dwight Matchette of Greenville, former clerk of the house and senate, is the leading candidate for senate clerk.

Senate Republicans in caucus last night chose Sen. Roscoe R Walcutt, Columbus attorney, as minority leader.

Democrats will outnumber Republicans in the new house of representatives 69 to 66, and in the senate 19 to 14.

ACTION IN CHINA. Nationalist forces (shaded arrows) were trying to turn tide in battle before Nanking. Former Suchow garrison troops who had wheeled to West, now are driving South in an effort to reach entrapped 12th army group below Suhsien. To meet this thrust Communist Gen. Chen Yi has turned his Red columns (black arrow) northward. The Communist radio claims he has encircled government forces Nationalist troops on Pengpu line, now unhampered by Reds, crossed Hwai River and reoccupied Kuchen. Shading represents area controlled by Communists.

SUB SURVIVOR

Harbor trying to make repairs and trying to find a target.

Several times he surfaced and was depth-charged. He saw several small craft—minesweepers and destroyers—but he wanted to save his torpedoes for bigger game. Through his periscope he saw columns of smoke rising over the harbor.

The midget submarine grounded several times on reefs. Bilge water spread to the battery racks and deadly gases began to fill the submarine. Depth charges rocked it.

Their senses dulled, Sakamaki and his fellow crewmen, petty officer Kiyoshi Inazaki, decided to try to make Lanai. Then the ship grounded for the 10th and last time.

Sakamaki swam for the shore of what he thought was Lanai. His companion was drowned.

Collapsing on the shore, Sakamaki remembered nothing more until he was shaken by an American soldier pointing a pistol at him. He found he had been traveling in circles and was back at Oahu.

"I was terribly ashamed," Sakamaki said. "I asked for an opportunity to die an honorable death, but they just laughed at me."

Church School Workers Hear Chicago Speaker

A conference for church school workers at Emmanuel Baptist church, with Miss Eunice Fischer of Chicago, Ill., expert consultant conducting a training workshop, drew representatives from several churches at the first session Monday night. Emphasis was placed at that session on teaching preschool age children in Sunday school. Pictures, flannelgraph materials, and "right and wrong teaching methods" were discussed. Miss Fischer, consultant on Sunday school work for Scripture press, Chicago, has conducted numerous similar conferences in various churches throughout this section of the country.

Tonight, Miss Fischer will give suggestions on "how to prepare and effectively present a Sunday school lesson," and a demonstration will be on how to teach songs and memory passages to children. On the final night of the conference, Wednesday, stress will be on teaching of teenagers and adults. Miss Fischer will speak on "How To Keep from Having Dull, Unattended Teachers and Officers Meetings." Sessions begin at 7:30.

Parents of pupils as well as church school workers are invited to attend, Dr. C. E. Hershey, pastor, stated. There is no registration fee. A freewill offering will be taken Wednesday night.

RUSS IN AIRLIFT LANES

BERLIN, Dec. 7—Russian military planes flew in all three western airlift corridors to Berlin today in what Allied officers said was "a normal amount of sorties for clear day." The Soviet command notified the Allied air safety center here in advance that Yaks and PO-2s, both fighter types, would be aloft for varying periods from dawn to 3 p. m. Airlift planes operate as usual during these displays.

EXPERTS SAY VALLEY TOO FLAT FOR DAMS

By The Associated Press

DEFIANCE, O., Dec. 7—A former state highway director says the Maumee valley is too flat to make a flood control project feasible.

Perry T Ford, last direct witness before the court hearing testimony for a proposed Maumee conservancy district, was on the stand yesterday. The court then recessed and Ford is expected to finish his testimony.

The hearings may continue for some time, as rebuttal witnesses take over. The 13-judge court began hearing testimony on the valley-wide water control project five weeks ago.

Ford, state highway director in 1945 and 1946 and now a Columbus consulting engineer, was on the stand yesterday as court recessed. He qualified as an expert witness.

The Maumee valley, he testified, is too much like a giant saucer, with considerable flat area in the middle, to make a flood control project feasible. Ford said dams will raise water levels that already are too high in streams flowing into the Maumee river.

Dr. Alfred T. Pinkerton, a Lima pediatrician, challenged the contention of project-backers that sewage dumped into the Maumee and its tributaries was partly responsible for polio outbreaks in some northwestern Ohio communities. He said there was no known preventive.

TRAP OF 3 CHINA ARMIES CONFIRMED

By The Associated Press

NANKING, China, Dec. 7—Government sources admitted today Communist armies have encircled 110,000 Nationalist combat troops on the central China front southwest of Suchow.

These sources said the three trapped Army groups have been compressed in a front eight miles long and five miles in depth. They were trapped by the Communists as they marched south from Suchow to rescue other encircled government forces.

Eight or nine Red columns, commanded by General Chen Yi, were said to have completed the encirclement of this former Suchow garrison. The trap was sprung about 50 miles southwest of their former base.

Civil officials, evacuated from Suchow with the troops, were reported hampering operations of the encircled armies.

(The government sources' confirmation of Communist reports came shortly after Nationalist forces announced they had abandoned two towns on the northern front to Reds marching toward Peiping.)

The bulk of Chen Yi's forces were reported concentrated south of the government pocket to prevent an attempted break through in an effort to contact the encircled Twelfth army group.

A Nationalist military press spokesman described the reported Communist encirclement as "not probable." He said he had "not received such reports." Government communiques are usually late in reporting reverses.

Says Japs Won't Die Until U.S. Court Acts

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, Dec. 7—Gen. Douglas MacArthur reiterated today that former Premier Hideki Tojo and six other condemned Japanese warlords will live until the supreme court of the United States acts on appeals before it.

That gave Japan's top war leaders at least nine more days of life. The U. S. court set Dec. 16 to hear appeals submitted by two men in the death house and five others sentenced to prison terms.

While MacArthur answered the question about the immediate fate of the war criminals, he declined to answer other questions regarding the court's decision to listen to arguments. Aides said he felt remarks from him under the circumstances would be unseemly.

The charges of drunkenness and destruction of public property were filed after a melee Sunday in the police station involving the 29-year-old actor. In Hollywood, a spokesman for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer said Walker has been quite ill and that the studio intends to have him continue under medical care until he is well.

UN PROTECTION FOR KOREA ASKED BY U.S.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Dec. 7—The United States today asked United Nations protection for the republic of Korea against threats of violence and terror from Communist-controlled North Korea.

John Foster Dulles, acting chairman of the American delegation, told the political committee UN members should show "solidarity with the newly formed but already threatened government of the republic of Korea."

Dulles, first speaker in the long-delayed Korean debate, also blasted Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia for giving recognition to the regime of North Korea.

Russian delegates already have served indirect notice they will do their utmost to bar assembly action on Korea in the five working days left here.

Dulles declared the Communist regime of North Korea asserts pretentions to govern the entire country and threatens to back those pretentions with force and violence.

"Already it has incited acts of terrorism and cruelty that shock all decent people," he said. "Yet that regime, born in obscurity, in defiance of the United Nations, has been recognized by three members states: the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Poland and is, it seems, supported morally and materially by the forces in North Korea of the Soviet Union."

The Korean case came up yesterday but the entire day was spent in an unsuccessful Soviet attempt to get the committee to invite representatives of North Korea to the debate. The committee did invite representatives of the republic of Korea to take part.

Mayor Faces Trial For Permitting Gambling

By The United Press

FREMONT, O., Dec. 7—Harry Karchner, mayor of Fremont of nearby Woodville, today faced trial Dec. 16 on charges of permitting operation of slot machines in the village during a July 4, 1947, celebration.

The trial date was set yesterday by Judge A. V. Baumann, who had had twice before postponed proceedings because of the illness of persons involved.

Karchner was indicted after state liquor inspectors prosecuted operators of three Woodville cafes for exhibiting slot machines. When brought to trial, the tavern men protested that they displayed the machines with Karchner's permission providing the money went to the American Legion and volunteer fire department in Woodville. Karchner has denied the charges.

FAMED OHIO SOLDIER OF FORTUNE DIES

By The Associated Press

FREMONT, O., Dec. 7—Western B. (Bert) Hall, 62, soldier of fortune and one of the foundders of the famed Lafayette Escadrille of World War I, died yesterday

Hall, head of a Castalia, O., toy factory, was found dead in his automobile. Coroner F. A. Visconti said Hall was stricken with a heart attack shortly after passing through here on the way to Chicago. His car plunged through a fence and against a utility pole.

The Missouri-born adventurer learned to fly in France around 1909. Three years later he took part in the Balkan war becoming, friends said, the first man to fly an airplane on a mission during a war.

In 1914 Hall, master of several languages joined the French Foreign Legion.

When the World War broke out Hall and five other men formed the Lafayette Escadrille.

During the war Hall went into Russia incognito to try to determine how much assistance the country was giving the Allies. When his mission was completed he flew with the Russians and after the revolution reportedly helped fly some of the crown jewels out of the country.

Csornoraky, 29, formerly was Hungary' envoy to Egypt. He once was stationed in Washington. A people's court sentenced him Nov. 15 to be hanged, holding that he had engaged in "traitorous activities" with U. S. and British agents. ## Elizabeth Arrives 14 Days Behind Schedule

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 — The Cunard White Star liner Queen Elizabeth arrived last night—14 days behind schedule because of strikes, fog and heavy seas

The liner, largest passenger vessel afloat, brought 2,209 passengers

The ship had been due to leave Southampton, England, Nov. 17 and arrive here Nov. 22. The longshoremen's strike on the American east coast, with a sympathy walkout of part of the Queen Elizabeth's crew, held up sailing for about eleven days.

The record fog over western Europe then delayed the ship another three days. The ship sailed Dec 1, but lost 12 hours on the run because of gales and high seas.

SAYS ECA HAS SOLD OUT U.S. SHIPPING

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—Maritime Commissioner Grenville Mellen today charged foreign aid officials with "selling out our merchant fleet and posing a serious threat to national defense."

David Bruce, acting foreign aid chief, disputed the accusation.

Mellen, the commission's liaison man with the economic cooperation administration, referred to changes he said ECA plans to seek in the shipping clause of the European recovery act when congress reconvenes next month.

The law now requires that at least half of all goods bought with Marshall plan dollars go overseas on American ships when such ships are available. In eight months, ECA has alloted nearly $300,000,000 to ocean freight costs.

Mellen told a reporter ECA wants to let foreign ships carry a bigger percentage in order to take advantage of lower costs. But, he declared:

"The U. S. merchant fleet must have this continued guarantee that it will get its share of this shipping, or we will again become a second-rate maritime power without a prayer of meeting military shipping needs if another war develops."

At Potsdam Truman Tells Ike He'll Back Him for Presidency

By DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER

(Copyright, 1948, by Doubleday and Company, Inc.)

27. Potsdam and Dealing with Russians.

THE DIFFICULT problem of displaced persons pressed more immediately on my attention than my personal relations with the Russians. A displaced person was defined as a civilian outside the national boundaries of his or her country by reason of war, who was desirous but unable to return home or find a home without assistance, or who was to be returned to enemy or ex-enemy territory.

Of all these DPs the Jews were in the most deplorable condition. For years they had been beaten, starved, and tortured. Even food, clothes, and decent treatment could not immediately enable them to shake off their hopelessness and apathy.

They huddled together—they seemingly derived a feeling of safety out of crowding together in a single room—and there passively awaited whatever might befall. To secure for them adequate shelter, to establish a system of food distribution and medical service, to say nothing of providing decent sanitary facilities, heat, and light was a most difficult task. They were, in many instances, no longer capable of helping themselves; everything had to be done for them.

The first business meeting of the Berlin Council was held on July 16. Chairmanship of the Council was to rotate monthly and a fine spirit was initially noticeable. Differences of opinion developed but most of these involved details of procedure or method, and in the prevailing cooperative atmosphere none of them seemed to threaten great difficulty.

In early July we received word that the Potsdam Conference would soon convene. Again we had to prepare accommodations and protection for the reception of VIPs (soldiers' language for Very Important Persons), but in this instance my task was limited to that of receiving and caring for the American delegation only.

* * *

I WENT TO ANTWERP to meet the cruiser on which President Truman and Secretary Byrnes came to Europe. There I had an opportunity to discuss with them a few points which I thought important.

First, I urged that civilian authority take over military government of our portion of Germany at the earliest possible date. I pointed out to the President and the Secretary that, while the Army would obviously have to stay in control until order was assured, the government of individuals in their normal daily lives was not a part of military responsibility.

When I returned to the United States in late 1945 as Chief of Staff of the Army, I continued to urge the wisdom of this move upon Secretary Byrnes, but learned that he had undergone a change of heart. Though always agreed in principle, he would not agree to implement the idea because of the administrative and financial burdens that would thus be placed upon the State Department.

Another item on which I ventured to advise President Truman involved the Soviets' intention to enter the Japanese war. I told him that since reports indicated the imminence of Japan's collapse I deprecated the Red Army's engaging in that war. It was my personal opinion that no power on earth could keep the Red Army out of the war unless victory came before they got in.

* * *

A THIRD SUGGESTION I made to the President was that we preserve some flexibility in the termination of Lend-Lease arrangements with the French and British. I was unfamiliar with the exact provisions of the law covering the matter, but I knew that the mere cessation of hostilities did not instantly and appreciably lessen French and British need for quantities of food and supplies from us, upon which they had counted with confidence.

I informed the President of my belief that we should handle the German economy, and particularly the problem of reparations, in such a way as to insure Germans an opportunity to make a living, provided they were ready to work. Of this readiness there was no doubt.

I had a long talk with Secretary Stimson, who told me that very shortly there would be a test in New Mexico of the atomic bomb, which American scientists had finally succeeded in developing. The results of the successful test were soon communicated to the Secretary by cable. He was tremendously relieved, for he had apparently followed the development with intense interest and felt a keen sense of responsibility for the amount of money and resources that had been devoted to it.

I expressed the hope that we would never have to use such a thing against any enemy because I disliked seeing the United States take the lead in introducing into war something as horrible and destructive as this new weapon was described to be. Moreover, I mistakenly had some faint hope that if we never used the weapon in war other nations might remain ignorant of the fact that the problem of nuclear fission had been solved. I did not then know, of course, that an army of scientists had been engaged in the production of the weapon and that secrecy in this vital matter could not have been maintained.

* * *

ONE DAY when the President was riding with General Bradley and me he fell to discussing the future of some of our war leaders. I told him that I had no ambition except to retire to a quiet home and from there do what little I could to help our people understand some of the great changes the war had brought to the world and the inescapable responsibilities that would devolve upon us all as a result of those changes.

I shall never forget the President's answer. Up to that time I had met him casually on only two or three occasions. I had breakfasted with him informally and had found him sincere, earnest, and a most pleasant person with whom to deal.

Now, in the car, he suddenly turned toward me and said: "General, there is nothing that you may want that I won't try to help you get. That definitely and specifically includes the Presidency in 1948."

I doubt that any soldier of our country was ever so suddenly struck in his emotional vitals by a President with such an apparently sincere and certainly astounding proposition as this. Now and then, in conversations with friends, jocular suggestions had previously been made to me about a possible political career. My reaction was always instant repudiation, but to have the President suddenly throw this broadside into me left me no recourse except to treat it as a very splendid joke, which I hoped it was.

I laughed heartily and said: "Mr. President, I don't know who will be your opponent for the Presidency, but it will not be I." There was no doubt about my seriousness.

* * *

IN ALL our dealings with the Russian authorities in Berlin we were particularly careful to carry out to the letter every commitment and engagement, even where these were only implied or understood. During the months of August, September, and October there prevailed, locally, a general attitude that encouraged me to believe that eventual full success was possible. This does not imply an absence of annoying details. On the contrary, there were many occasions when patience were thin in the attempt to achieve the unanimous agreements necessary to progress of any kind.

One of the subjects concerning which the Soviet authorities wrote us frequent letters of complaint was what they claimed to be unauthorized flights of American airplanes over Russian-occupied Germany. Periodically the Russians submitted to us a detailed list of these alleged violations, in such numbers that specific investigation was completely futile.

All we could do was urge all air units to be careful in this regard, but finally I went to Marshal Zhukov and told him that I thought these inconsequential and unintentional violations were far too petty to engage the constant attention of us both. I remarked that in such case he had to write a letter, which I then had laboriously to answer.

He instantly agreed that they were minor matters and should not take up our time, but he complained that all these violations were reported to Moscow by the Russian anti-aircraft organization. This organization, he said, was separate from the other ground forces, and not under his command. When these reports reached the capital they were sent back to him and he was then required to ask for a reply from me.

* * *

IT SEEMED an astonishing sort of system but somewhat in line with what we considered to be the Russian practice of overcentralization. In any event, I told Marshal Zhukov to keep sending the letters and that I would keep sending him the same stereotyped replies. He said that was quite satisfactory.

We encouraged the exchange of social visits, particularly between Americans and Russians, and these affairs seemed to be thoroughly enjoyed by both sides. The Russians love entertainment and genuinely appreciate any kind of music; so the jokes, companionship, and the orchestras at a dinner made all these occasions most successful.

We learned another lesson when at the Council of Foreign Ministers in London sharp official differences reportedly developed between Secretary Byrnes and Mr. Molotov. Instantly a strained and stiff attitude became apparent among the Russians in Berlin. Red Army officers who had already accepted dinner invitations from Americans either sent their regrets or failed to keep the engagement. Formerly pleasant faces clouded up; it seemed that no Russian was any longer allowed to smile at, or talk pleasantly with, an American.

This lasted for some days, but then, just as mysteriously as it had begun, it completely disappeared. However, its occurrence did not affect Marshal Zhukov and me. We continued our friendly association and conducted our business on that basis.

"Operation Study" is the name given by General Eisenhower to the next job which was started immediately after victory in Europe of trying to learn the lessons taught by the war. It was the greatest war the United States had ever fought, and much of it lay in the still uncharted regions of a new kind of warfare.

Tomorrow's installment of "Crusade in Europe" summarizes some of General Eisenhower's own conclusions from this study. It includes his estimate of coalition warfare, its difficulties and its great possibilities, his judgment of the fighting qualities of American soldiers, his rating of air power in modern warfare.

TOTAL DEAD IN TWO SHIP SINKINGS 9,200

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, Dec. 6—A belated report disclosed that possibly 6,000 Chinese died in the explosion and sinking of a crowded evacuation ship off southern Manchuria early last month

That would bring to 9,200 the number of Chinese estimated to have lost their lives in this and a similar disaster near Shanghai Friday night involving the overcrowded steamer Kiangya.

The Manchurian sinking would rank as probably the greatest single ship tragedy. Official sources in Nanking said 6,000 were aboard an unidentified merchant ship evacuating troops of the government's 52nd army from Yingkow. The explosion set off ammunition; all on board were killed

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

I MADE no objection to Lillian's dictum as I started for the bedroom where Katharine had ensconced Ducky in her camouflaged and successful effort to get Faith out of the apartment while Harry brought his old friend up to date on what had happened to the desperado who shot him. I was glad of the opportunity to see my husband alone, and check his condition.

He looked up at me with a grin as I sat down beside the bed where he was resting.

"I assume everything is under control," he said, as he reached his uninjured hand, and put it on mine.

"Perfectly," I told him, "except that I really believe Harry will burst if he doesn't have a chance to talk to you soon."

"Well, what's delaying him now?" he asked.

"Lillian," I told him, smiling. "She must be clairvoyant, for she told Harry he must wait until I should come in and check on you."

"Why clairvoyant?" my husband asked, but there was a hint of knowledge in his voice.

"Because she knew I wanted to see you first by myself," I told him.

"Why," he said, grinning, "that's very flattering to an aged husband."

"From an aging wife, remember," I told him.

"You'll never grow old," he said gallantly. "Now give me a good buss, and go back and bring the old jackass in. He'll never be satisfied until he's had a chance to give his broadcast."

I kissed him warmly, and went to the door leading to the living room and opened it.

"Come on in," I said. "He's anxiously waiting for you."

"He'd better be," Harry Underwood said, as, with Lillian, he came toward me. "I have much news for him."

"Okay, okay!" Dicky said as Lillian, Harry and I seated ourselves near him. "Now give me the low down you had to camouflage before Faith. Did you find out who that hombre was?"

"Not definitely," the big man replied, "but the Chief evidently concluded he had some good leads because he left for parts unknown as soon as he'd finished interrogating the lad."

"Where is the man now?" Dicky asked.

"Safely tied up in one of the Chief's 'dungeon cells' at the hideaway," and my husband gave his old friend a long, searching look.

"All right!" he said. "Begin at the beginning, and tell me the whole story."

"Okay," Mr. Underwood said, relaxing against the cushions of his chair. "You remember that 'X' and I lugged the lad out of your studio in a big sack mit little holes in it so he could breath?"

"But couldn't yell or kick, because he was bound and gagged," Dicky said. "Yes, I remember."

"Well, when we got down to the hideaway and took him out of the sack, he apparently was completely out," his friend replied. "For a second or two, I don't mind telling you, my heart was climbing right out of my mouth. I thought we had an honest to goodness corpse on our hands."

Harding Set For First Home Game

The Harding cagers will meet a rangy Galion basketball squad in their first home game of the 1948-49 season tonight on the Harding Junior High hardwoods. The Tigers average over six feet and will match the Prexies as far as height is concerned.

Coach Kenny Somerlot said he will start the same squad as in the Bexley game last Friday night in which the Harding men were edged, 37-34. Dick Clark and Merle Daum will be the forwards, Jack Daum will start at center, and Dick Wolfe, Dick Thomas, and Bill Buckingham will alternate at the guards. Kenny also said that he will use his two team system again to provide fresh reserves. The second squad consists of Clarence Smith, Tom Ballinger, Roger Andrews, Dick Leffler, and Don Johnson.

The Tigers, led by young coach Dick Backensto, are a fighting ball club and press play all the way. Last week they bowed to Mt. Vernon, 52-50, but looked impressive even in the loss. Galion's tallest man is forward Fink who reaches better than six feet, two inches. Self is his fellow forward, Lake is center, and guards are Dye and Eisinger.

Different from last Friday the Harding cagers will be playing on a floor that they know. Several of the Marion team remarked after the Bexley contest that the floor had thrown them off. It was far larger than they had practiced on and led to difficulties in passing and positions in plays.

Last year the Prexies downed Galion, 31-27, in a low scoring contest.

BIVINS, JOE MAXIM IN BOUT TONIGHT

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Dec. 7 — Heavyweights Jimmy Bivins and Joe Maxim trade punches in a 10-rounder at the arena tonight with the winner becoming a strong candidate for a bout with champion Joe Louis next June.

It's almost a certainty that the victor will fight Jersey Joe Walcott here next month in one of a series of eliminations to find a suitable opponent for Louis.

Matchmaker Larry Atkins reported Walcott's manager, Felix Bocchicchio, would arrive today to discuss contract negotiations and remain to see the Bivins-Maxim fracas.

"I feel pretty certain that Walcott will fight here because of the money he can make," Atkins declared. "I've offered him a $20,000 guarantee to fight the winner of the Bivins-Maxim bout here Jan. 13 and I don't know where else he can get that kind of money."

If Walcott fights the winner of the Bivins-Maxim tussle, it is expected the survivor of the Walcott scrap will meet the winner of the Joe Baksi-Rezard Charles punch party scheduled for New York Friday night.

A capacity crowd of 12,000 is expected to contribute close to $100,000 to the Cleveland News Christmas fund.

BLACK UNDER KNIFE

Y INDEPENDENTS OPEN WITH BANG

Martel, Midtown, Sally Anns Win 1st Games.

The YMCA Independent league opened with a bang and a roar last night at the Y gym.

In the first contest of league play Martel Elevator decisioned Schlairet Transfer by a point, 42-42; Greens Sporting Goods was swamped by Midtown Chevrolets, 70-33; and Sally Ann Inn stopped Wilson Sakel, 46-24.

Martel and Schlairet battled back and forth all through their contest with the lead changing hands five times. With seconds to go Martel was leading by three points when Lloyd Dillion, Schlairet forward dove in for a shot and was fouled. His attempted shot was good and he was awarded a free throw which could have tied up the game. Dillion missed, however, and the ball was batted around loosely for agonizing seconds. One of the Schlairet men flipped the ball in just after the clock had hit the top

The noise was so terrific that it completely muffled the horn signaling the end of the game and play continued for another five seconds during which time Schlairet scored another goal. The timer determined that the first goal had been scored after the game was officially over. Protesting followed but to no avail.

Jones paced the Mid-Town Chevrolets with 10 points and Tom Moran and Gene Shellhorn weren't far behind with 14 markers apiece. High man for the defeated Greens was Miller with 15. Johnson and Rose divided the scoring honors in Sally Ann Inn's victory over Wilson Sakel with 11 apiece.

MORE FUR BUT LESS DOLLAR TAKE SEEN

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7—Ohio trappers may catch more fur this year, but their dollar take will be considerably less, the state division of conservation reported today.

Conservation agents said raw fur dealers were quoting prices well below those of last year. Mink, which last year brought $22 each, are going for $14 this season. Muskrats, composing the big end of the trappers catch, have dropped 25 cents to $1.75 a skin.

Fox pelts, which once commanded a handsome price, are now bringing about 50 cents, but bounties in some counties help raise their value. Some trappers, the conservation men said, won't bother to skin a fox or an opossum, which brings only 30 cents.

Raccoon skin coats were once the trademark of the collegiate crowd. But now the ringtails are worth only $1.50 because of lack of demand.

Ridgeway, Dunkirk Pace Hardin League

Ridgeway and Dunkirk lead the loop with two wins and no losses

Another tag team match will top the wrestling card at the Armory Thursday, promoter Les Fishbeugh announced today.

Dayle Wayne and Dutch Schultz, winners of the rough go last week, will team up to meet Martino Angelo and a new grappler on the Marion scene, "Killer Joe" Christy, who hails from Canada.

Angelo will take on Wayne in one preliminary 30-minute match and Christy will meet Schultz in another. The kid preliminary will start at 8:30 p. m.

Woodcock Wins by Foul But Loses Title Hopes

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Dec. 7—Bruce Woodcock won the fight but lost the big prize—any hope for a world title match with heavyweight champion Joe Louis.

Lee Savold lost the bout but showed himself a better man and worthier foe for Louis than the winner.

That sums up the slant of expert ringsiders on the scheduled 10-round go here last night that had been plugged as an elimination for a world championship contest

Woodcock, the British heavyweight champion, won the fight in the fourth round when Savold was disqualified for hitting below the belt. Savold, veteran ex-Minnesotan now billed from Paterson, N. J., was going strong at the time.

The crowd of 11,000 in Harringay arena booed the decision while Woodcock writhed and mugged on the canvas in a show of pain.

London fight writers took exception to the outcome in this morning's papers, and almost to a man they agreed Woodcock is not championship material

The News Chronicle quoted promoter Jack Solomons as saying he'd fly to New York tomorrow to try to talk the 20th Century Sporting club into a match between Louis and Woodcock in London next summer.

Solomons couldn't be reached for a check today.

Referee Sam Russell said he probably would have let Savold off with a warning — which would have been the second such — if Woodcock hadn't gone on "lying in agony on the canvas."

Cincinnati To Rule On Nolting's Scalp

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Dec. 7—The hot water that has been simmering around Ray Nolting, University of Cincinnati football coach, is due to come to a boil today.

U. C.'s nine-man board of directors will meet at 3 p. m. today and is expected to decide whether to renew Nolting's contract, which expires in February, or whether to start looking for another coach.

Nolting, a U.C. graduate and a member of the Chicago Bears for almost a decade, has been rumored as on his way out at various times during the past seasons.

The rumblings against him started a year ago when the Bearcats took a sound beating from Miami, their bitterest rival. More fuel was added to the fire thus season when Xavier, Cincinnati's other university, licked U. C. for the first time in history. Then came another beating to wind up a season that showed only three victories against six defeats and one tie.

The "antis" gathered still more fuel for the fire in mid-season when Harry Baujan, Dayton university athletic director, accused Bearcat coaches of unsportsmanlike conduct. Baujan's statement was made in a speech here.

The Cincinnati Enquirer said today three of the members of the board of directors are in favor of dropping Nolting but it will take two more votes to provide the necessary majority.

Report OSU Trustees Gain Athletic Control

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7—Ohio State university trustees today were reported to have placed the athletic board under their direct supervision. The board has been acting independently for years.

The Ohio State Journal, the city's morning newspaper, said the trustees on Sept. 8 adopted a ruling requiring the athletic board to obtain approval of the trustees on every action.

Neither trustees nor university officials could be reached for comment. Athletic Director Richard A. Larkins referred reporters to university officials and said he had "no comment."

In such a change in university policy, the most spectacular single effect would involve athletic board funds. Over the years the board has controlled millions of dollars in football gate receipts alone. Now, the trustees will supervise their disposition.

BUCK BASKETEERS DUMP MARQUETTE

By The Associated Press

Ohio State university stayed in the ranks of the unbeaten basketball quintets last night by dusting off Marquette, 72-47.

It was the Bucks' second straight decision in their tune-up for the Big Nine conference chase. Marquette kept even with Ohio State for the first seven minutes, but Coach Tippy Dye's crew was ahead 42-21 at halftime.

When State took a 58-33 edge midway in the second half Dye pulled his regulars. Forward Dick Schnittker and center Don Raidiger each scored 13 points, forward Bob Donham bagged 12, guard Bob Burkholder mesbed 10 and the other starter, guard Gene Brown, hit for nine.

There were two other games involving Ohio quintets last night. West Virginia Tech tripped Rio Grande, 51-46, in the last four minutes at Montgomery, W. Va., and Manchester dumped Findlay at Celina, O., 58-50.

Irish Seek 2nd Win At Morral Tonight

Tonight loose surprising Irish of Marion St. Mary will try to pull off another upset when they invade Morral for a cage duel with one of the powers of the Marion County league. In their first County loop contest last Friday night the Morral men trounced Waldo, 71-25.

The Marion men went into their contest Saturday night at Columbus on the long end of the odds. Coach Treeze Sharrock had only one returning letterman, Corky Cusick, and only one member of the squad that could be called tall by any stretch of the imagination, center Bill Moloney. They poured in 16 points in the first quarter which gave them enough of a lead to outlast Columbus St. Mary's rally.

Coach Sharrock will start the same lineup tonight that racked up the first Irish victory of the season. Forwards will be Bill Merchant who paced the Irish Scoring Saturday night with 16 points and Jimmy Cusick. At center again will be Bill Moloney and guards will be Ed Moloney and Corky Cusick.

The squad is weak in foul shot shooting but in only one practice session little can be done about it, said Treeze. He particularly praised Ed Moloney for his work on rebounds off the backboards.

One encouraging point to be seen in Saturday's game, said Treeze, was that the team seems to have rid itself of mixing in football with its cage play. The only Irish player to go out because of fouls was Jimmy Cusick, not a football player

Waldo, VFW Maintain Pace In Veterans Basketball League

Waldo and Marion VFW came through with victory No. 3 and Bird-McGinnis won its second straight in Marion County Veterans league cage play at the Marion Armory last night. In the evening's first contest Waldo took Company C 37-33. VFW breezed by Navy Club, 47-37, and in the finale Bird-McGinnis dropped GI Post, 40-28.

Again led by the under basket shooting of little Jim Ward, Waldo jumped off to an early lead and managed to keep it throughout the contest. Company C was never far behind but a two basket lead seemed all the Waldo men needed. Ward racked up 15 points.

Navy Club went down for its third loss in its game with VFW. Last year's champs sparked by Larry Leser found the Navy men easy pickings. Leser hit the hoops for 19 points, the highest total of the evening's three contests.

It took Bird-McGinnis three quarters to finally come from behind and hang up a victory over a stubborn GI Post squad. The GI's had a six point lead at halftime but Bird-McGinnis went a point ahead in the third period and in the final quarter overwhelmed the GI's with 19 points.

OHIO PLANE WRECKAGE in which W. J. Blanchard, General Motors executive, and two women passengers died.

PLANE CRASHES NEAR COLUMBUS, 3 DIE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Dec. 7—A Dayton businessman and two women employes were found dead in the wreckage of their plane near here yesterday.

They had been missing since Saturday on a flight from Jamestown, N. Y., to Dayton.

The victims were W. J. Blanchard, 48, general manager of General Motors' Aero Products division at Dayton; Miss Vivian Johnson, 29, and Miss Betty Charles, 28, all of Dayton.

Two boys exercising a coon dog found the wreckage in a cornfield 10 miles west of Columbus and only half a mile from heavily-traveled U. S. route 40.

Coroner Robert A. Evans said the three had been dead about 24 hours. This would place the time of the crash around 3 a. m. Sunday. However, a clock in the plane's mangled instrument panel stopped at 9:45. If the clock stopped when the plane crashed, the time could have been either Saturday night or Sunday morning.

Coroner Evans said Blanchard, the pilot, apparently tried a forced landing. The retractable landing gear was down, and the coroner said the appearance of the field indicated the motor was running when the propeller nosed into the ground.

After it hit, the plane bounced 126 feet before crashing through several small trees, rolling across a small stream and turning over on the opposite bank.

Blanchard's silver and green, four-place Navion was the object of a four-state search since Sunday morning, when his wife reported him overdue. Pilots in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan conducted the search.

The boys who found the bodies, Fred Mayer and Delmer Miles, both of Columbus, said they were almost upon the wreckage before they saw it among the cornstalks.

Claims Uranium Source Found in Colorado

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—A claim of discovery of a rich source of uranium in Colorado is made in an article in a Look Magazine today.

The article says a vein of pitchblende, the best source of uranium for atomic bombs or energy, was found deep in the abandoned old Caribou Hill mine near Boulder. It was made in new explorations there, in search of silver and other metals, by the Canadian Radium and Uranium Corp.

New York has been the most populous state in the Union since 1820 and now has 10 per cent of the nation's inhabitants, although in land area it ranks 29th.

JAP WARLORDS GET REPRIEVES

Tojo, et al Benefit from Reviews Granted Two Facing Execution.

Special to The Star

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 — The supreme court's action Monday in agreeing to review the convictions of two Japanese war criminals serves to keep in effect the temporary reprieves granted by Gen. Douglas MacArthur to all of the seven Japanese warlords condemned to death last Nov. 12, it was generally agreed today.

The high court, intervening for the first time in its history in a matter decided by an interdenominational tribunal, voted 5-4 to grant reviews to Gen. Kenji Doihara, 66, and former Premier Koki Hirota, 70.

Justice Jackson, who presided at the German war crimes trials, cast the deciding vote. Justice Jackson, because of his connection with the German trials, abstained from taking part in the first vote, which resulted in a 4-4 tie.

However, under supreme court rules, a tie meant denial of the reviews. Justice Jackson thereupon cast the breaking vote.

The court's action not only delays the executions of the two war lords filing the appeal but gives a new lease on life to the five others condemned to death. The other five, including former Premier Hideki Tojo, did not appeal their convictions by the military court.

Justices Black, Douglas, Murphy and Rutledge voted to grant the reviews, with Justices Vinson, Frankfurter, Reed and Burton voting to reject the appeals.

The high court ordered oral arguments in the reviews to begin on Dec. 16.

In other actions Monday the court:

Refused to order Alabama's 11 electors to vote for the Truman-Barkley ticket, by tossing out suits by Gov. James E. Folsom and three private citizens of the state. Both pleas sought supreme court intervention to prevent the electors from carrying through their plans to vote for the states rights party candidates.

The court's action apparently meant that the states' 11 electoral votes, along with those of South Carolina, Mississippi and Louisiana, will go to Gov. J. Strom Thurmond and Gov. Fielding H. Wright, the states' rights candidates, when the electoral votes are cast officially Dec. 13.

Held that the wage-hour law applies on defense bases leased by the United States from foreign countries. The high court's five to four decision was handed down in a case involving employes at a United States base in Bermuda.

CALLED BY PROBERS. Francis B. Sayre, former Undersecretary of State, is scheduled to testify in the reopened spy investigation of the House un-American activities committee. Many documents found microfilmed in the pumpkin on Maryland farm of Whittaker Chambers came from Sayre's office, says Rep. Richard M. Nixon (R) of California.

The concerts being given by the local organization is part of a program being sponsored by the American Federation of Musicians through funds derived from the recording and transcription fund of the international organization.

PORTSMOUTH CITY MANAGER OUSTED

By The Associated Press

PORTSMOUTH, O., Dec. 7 — City Engineer Charles S. Stevenson took over as acting head of the city government today as Portsmouth joined the list of other Ohio cities involved in city manager disputes.

Four of the six city councilmen suspended City Manager Donald C. Wagner last night after he refused to resign.

The council majority said it believed Wagner should be removed from office, but agreed he has "the right, if he so demands, to have a written statement containing specific reasons for his removal, with the right to be heard at a public council meeting prior to a final vote on his removal."

Wagner immediately demanded the hearing and written statement. No date was set for the hearing.

Portsmouth thus became the fourth Ohio city to be involved in a city manager dispute this year. Toledo, Springfield and Hamilton city managers were under fire earlier.

Mayor George Weat and Councilman John Sallady voted against ousting Wagner, who came here a year ago at a $10,000 annual salary from Long Beach, N. Y.

GUARD UNIT OPEN FOR ENLISTMENTS

Co. C Will Take Men for Limited Period.

Captain Robert Melby, commander of Co. C 166th Infantry, Marion's National Guard company, today announced that for a limited time only Co. C will accept enlistments. Physically fit veterans or men signing up for the first time will be welcomed, Captain Melby said.

Orders recently received from guard headquarters in Columbus will permit unit commanders to enlist as many men as can pass the examination until the guard quota is filled.

Draft age men who have not yet received their notice for pre-induction physical examination may enlist in the guard and do their military service here at home. A guard member is draft exempt after his induction into the guard.

In order to accommodate numerous Marion men who have indicated their intention of signing up with the local unit Captain Melby has arranged to have a guardsmen on duty at the armory all day every day to process enlistment papers and provide information about the guard.

Any man who joins the guard before he reaches the age of 18½ years is draft exempt, Captain Melby stated. Guard service is done here in Marion and guardsmen are free to continue their regular occupation or education while taking regular guard training. Employers are required to release guard members for summer training encampments without loss of seniority or job status, under government regulations.

Missionary Society Gives Christmas Program

A program was in keeping with the Christmas season when the Woman's Missionary society of Trinity Baptist church met Thursday in the church parlors. Gifts of jellies and handkerchiefs were sent to Fanny Dean home for children of missionaries at Granville and a letter from the mission field in Arizona was read by Mrs. Kenneth Sweney.

Mrs. D. W. Hinamon was in charge of a program which opened with devotions by Mrs. Walter Haberman who read the story from Luke and gave two poems. Mrs. George Barnhart played a piano solo and the lesson topic, "Thy Word a Light in Mexico," was presented. Mrs. Dale Gorman, spiritual life leader, led in a prayer for Mexico. Mrs. Herbert Brewer gave a paper, "Customs in Mexico" and Mrs. Elmer Myers gave "My Word a Light in Mexico." Mrs. S. M. # Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Disorder Infant May Have.

THE most common condition requiring surgical treatment in the first few months of life is pyloric stenosis. In this disorder the food cannot pass from the stomach into the bowel as it should because there is a thickening of the circular muscle between the stomach and the first part of the intestine.

Just why the majority of such cases occur in male babies we do not know. But it is a fact that there are about six males to one female. However, another interesting fact is that the first-born is more likely to have this condition.

In most instances, the condition develops shortly after birth, between the ages of three and six weeks. The first symptom of this condition is severe vomiting, in which the food is forcibly expelled from the stomach. If this type of vomiting occurs, the baby should be carefully examined to determine whether it has gained weight satisfactorily, and to note whether the movements of the stomach can be seen through the abdominal wall. Sometimes the thickened muscle may be felt through the abdomen.

Because the X-ray examination is of great importance in making a diagnosis in this condition is just another reason why the doctor is so thankful for the X-ray. The enlarged circular muscle may be seen in the X-ray plate, and there is also a narrowing of the opening through this muscle when pyloric stenosis is present. However, the most important information obtained by the X-ray is whether or not the contents of the stomach are retained, i.e., do not pass on to the intestine in he usual three or four hours.

The treatment for pyloric stenosis consists of operation. However, it is extremely important that the baby be put in the best possible condition before the operation is carried out.

This is done by giving the patient plenty of fluid by injection under the skin or into a vein, or by giving an injection of whole blood into a vein prior to operation.

The patient is given water one hour after the operation is performed, and the amount of water is increased every two hours. Two hours after operation, the patient is given a milk feeding, preferably breast milk, though a formula can be used. The baby is not awakened during the night for feeding. The amount of food is gradually increased until by the fifth day the normal feeding schedule is resumed.

Thanks to modern medical science, babies with proper treatment now seldom die from pyloric stenosis.

Questions and Answers

J. R.: I am 22 years old. Can anything be done for bowlegs in a person of my age?

Answer: Operation is the only means of correcting bowlegs in a person of your age. An operation should not be performed unless the deformity is severe.

One Man's Opinion

Labor Secretary Tobin has splendid plans for reducing unemployment . . . He hopes to start by hiring 3,000 more hands in the labor department.

• • •

And if every government department would do the same, unemployment would disappear . . . In fact given a high enough budget Tobin could handle it himself.

• • •

But for a new man he runs his department with a practiced hand . . . Some cabinet officers have waited as long as six months before doubling their payrolls.

Hyde Park Inn

A ROUTINE announcement published recently in New York newspapers throws additional light on the development of the Roosevelt legend, a matter which historians may trace with keen interest some day. The announcement dealt with plans for an inn opposite the Roosevelt national site and library at Hyde Park.

The inn, to be built and furnished at a cost of approximately $1,000,000, would contain half a hundred bedrooms and dining accommodations for 350 persons. It would be built as a private project on land leased to the owners by Elliott Roosevelt. Ultimately, there would be other developments of a similar nature in the same area, in accordance with ideas outlined to his son by Franklin D. Roosevelt before his death.

It's a matter of record that some 1,250,000 persons have visited the Roosevelt national site and library in the last two and one-half years—a significant tribute to the late president's foresight. He realized more clearly than his contemporaries that his role in national politics had created the circumstances of unusual interest in Hyde Park. While his critics may never be reconciled to the legend that has grown up about his place in American affairs, they now must concede that 1,250,000 persons didn't just happen to stop at Hyde Park on their way to a ball game.

Preventive Medicine

DR. CHANNING FROTHINGHAM, Boston physician, who warns that American Medical association's plan to fight President Truman's national health insurance program may backfire, has sensed a danger that all other physicians should be aware of.

It is the danger the A.M.A., having authorized local medical societies to raise money to fight the Truman plan, may wind up with them as opponents of that plan at the expense of being proponents of some better plan of their own. Dr. Frothingham, twice president of the Massachusetts Medical society, predicts this would precipitate a revolt in the profession.

Physicians and surgeons are naturally opposed to socialization of their profession; they would be fools if they didn't oppose it. But there is a vast difference between being in blind opposition and being in constructive opposition.

Constructive opposition in this case entails support of ideas which are better than socialized medicine. Some of the ideas already are in effect. For example, no person who is adequately insured against the expense of unusual sickness is likely to be taken in by the glib oratory of the political proponents of socialized medicine, per se. There is only support for the idea that Americans should be able to protect themselves through collective action against unusual medical costs, in the same way that they protect themselves against the hazards of fire, accident and theft.

The medical profession has an enormous reserve of good will to draw on if it averts the mistake of jeopardizing its good will by letting politicians maneuver it into stand-pat opposition.

Alas, Poor Little Princess

IN THE effort to understand what the royal family of Britain does for its constituents that no other royal family has been able to do quite so well, Americans now come to the case of Princess Margaret Rose.

An influential British newspaper charges she is staying up too late at nights for a teen-ager. The charge opens the issue of how late a teen-ager should stay up. Margaret Rose will be ordered by her papa and mama to come home earlier in the future. This will be publicized as further proof of her parents' good sense, and hundreds of thousands of British teen-agers will be told that what is good enough for a princess is good enough for them. That will settle all further arguments about how late an adolescent girl should stay up. The poor little princess may think she got a raw deal out of it and that she is entitled to have as much fun as anyone else—but that's only because, being young, she doesn't have the hang of the royal family's job yet. It is to set a good example, even if it means a pain in the neck. That's the lesson for today, Margaret Rose, and if you want to know more just ask Uncle Edward.

Lobby Law's Provisions

By David Lawrence

Showing How It Invades Rights of Citizen

WASHINGTON

PRESIDENT TRUMAN cannot be expected to know the answers to all the questions asked him by the press and he is, therefore, to be forgiven for having failed recently to denounce the present so-called "lobby" legislation and for having announced instead that he intends to ask congress to strengthen this same law.

As a matter of fact few persons in America today know what a vicious law the 79th congress (Democratic control) hastily passed in its closing hours in July, 1946, and how that law would destroy the civil rights of every citizen who may wish to exercise his Constitution-given right to petition his own government.

Here are enumerated some of the points in the present law:

▶ Any person "who shall engage himself for pay or for any consideration for the purpose of attempting to influence the passage or defeat of any legislation by the congress" must register and in effect stamp himself as a "lobbyist" no matter what the cause he espouses. The organization which he represents must for two years keep an itemized account of every expenditure above $10 and file it with congress even if "indirectly" used to influence legislation.

▶ The word "legislation" is defined not only as any bill or resolution pending or proposed but "any other matter which may be the subject of action by either house" now or for the next 50 years or more.

▶ The law applies to "any person who by himself, or through any agent or employe of other persons in any manner whatsoever, directly or indirectly, solicits, collects, or receives money or any other thing of value to be used principally to aid, or the purpose of which person is to aid, in the accomplishment of any of the following purposes:

"(A) The passage or defeat of any legislation by the congress of the United States;

"(B) To influence, directly or indirectly, the passage or defeat of any legislation by the congress."

▶ Nowhere in the law is there any definition of what is meant by "principally to aid" nor what is meant by "directly or indirectly." Yet without knowledge of such definition a jail sentence can be incurred by the citizen if a conviction is obtained.

▶ Every person who is required to register must not only tell what he is paid or what "consideration" caused him to attempt to influence legislation either in Washington or in his own community in conversation or otherwise but he must also put in writing and list with the clerk of house of representatatives "the names of any papers, periodicals, magazines, or other publications in which he has caused to be published any articles or editorials." No other citizens are required to do this and no other federal law has ever been passed compelling a person to reveal himself as the source of information given to the press. This law in effect prevents the giving of any information confidentially to a newspaper by a person registered in behalf of any organization, good or bad, interested in legislation pending or in any matter likely to become a legislative question at any time.

▶ The present law exempts newspapers and periodicals and individuals employed by them from being required to register as "lobbyists" but if any publication does anything else besides publish the material and attempts to distribute its articles beyond its own circulation as a reprint for people in other cities to read, this can be construed as "lobbying" and subject the newspaper to fines unless it is registered as engaged in "lobbying."

▶ Pamphlets, leaflets, handbills, etc. designed to influence legislation cannot be distributed without subjecting the organizaton of distributors to fines or imprisonment unless registered as "lobbyists."

▶ If convicted for failing to register and to fill out countless details on the forms supplied, a person loses his civil right to appear before a congressional committee for three years thereafter in addition to fines or imprisonment. No such punishment for a "misdemeanor" has ever been meted out heretofore in America and could be attacked as a "cruel and unusual punishment" banned by the constitution.

▶ Every public official who does lobbying is specifically exempted from the terms of the lobbying law even if he uses public funds for the purpose or even if he distributes leaflets, books, pamphlets paid for with government money or if he causes to be published articles in the press espousing his cause. Thus the government is given propaganda facilities which it brazenly deprives the citizen from using unless he accepts burdensome restrictions and the stigma of "lobbying" formally stamped on his work.

• • •

THE ABOVE POINTS are not all the defects in the law. The statute is unequal in its application as between citizens which of course casts doubt on its constitutionality. Also the supreme court of the United States recently said it was unconstitutional for Texas to try by law to make a labor organizer register before exercising his rights of free speech or assembly. Why isn't it also unconstitutional for congress by law to require registration by a citizen before he is permitted to exercise his constitutional right of petition?

Post-Election Opinion

By Raymond Moley

"THINGS don't seem as bad as they really are." This was the consensus of comment in and around various businessmen's early December meetings in New York. There was no lack of evidence that the first impact of Truman's unexpected victory had stunned the business community. Then followed a period of peering amid the clouds for streaks of light and comfort. Finally, the will to work "as usual" emerged. The attitude was: "It will only be more of the same. It can't be worse."

No one seemed to minimize the threats ahead of the management and investment interests. Officers of various organizations were explicit in their advice to members. They pointed out that a President has been reelected who campaigned on an anti-big business theme, who promised more controls, more spending, more taxes and the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act. Also that despite some reassurances from Washington, there are many new and old members of congress who will press for the fulfillment of those promises.

IT WAS POINTED out that the President's assurance that he is not against business must be taken in the same sense that Roosevelt used in saying the same thing. In short, that the President will do what he thinks is good for business and not what business thinks is good for itself.

It was, however, in the intangibles that business found reassurance: The dominant Truman advisors are not radical. Nourse and Snyder are middle-of-the-road people. Prices and the cost of living are easier. The budget, unless great increases in defense and European aid are authorized, can be balanced. And there are enough survivors in congress who voted for tax reduction and the Taft-Hartley Act to check any serious reversals of policy.

The reassuring statements of prospective ways and means Chairman Doughton and appropriations Chairman Cannon were definitely intended to quiet business worries, and they were well received.

• • •

THERE WAS, among the men who attended these meetings, great interest in the forthcoming Hoover report on the organization of the executive branch of the federal government. Sources close to the Hoover commission indicated that the savings to be anticipated if the recommendations of the report were adopted would be $2,000,000,000 or $3,000,000,000 a year. This is good news for taxpayers, but a lot of taxpayer pressure on congress will be necessary to get the recommendations into law. This will be one of the major problems of business organizations in the next 12 months.

There was plenty of comment on the campaign and the election among these business leaders. It must be recorded that there was a definite disposition to assign to Dewey the role of the Grand Exalted Goat of the disaster. This is hotly contested by people close to Dewey, who say that the distinction should go to the 80th congress. This controversy will certainly break into print before long.

• • •

BUSINESSMEN who have been loyal Republicans and party contributors are discouraged in the future of their party as a savior. There was some talk about future candidates, and Stassen's name was frequently mentioned.

One notable remark was that it is time that business ceased putting its faith in a party. This comment was, in effect, "Work with what you have. Develop public sentiment for your right to serve. Support good candidates for congress and learn how to work with congressional committees which affect your business." This, it would seem, is good advice for the next year or so.

Trowel Trades

The percentage increase during the past year in the number of apprentices employed was greater in the trowel trades than in any other of the building trades, according to William F. Patterson, director of the Bureau of Apprenticeship, United States Department of Labor.

Mr. Patterson says:

"On Aug. 1, 1947, there were 13,574 and on Aug. 1, of this year there were 18,688 apprentices working in the trowel trades. This represents a gain of 38 per cent during the 12-month period.

"The large increase is of special significance as there has been a shortage of craftsmen in the trowel trades in some areas. This expansion is greatly due to the good cooperation which exists between the unions, contractor associations, state apprenticeship councils and the Bureau of Apprenticeship for the development of skilled workers, not only in the trowel trades but in all the building crafts.

"Only high quality apprenticeship will produce the all-around skilled workers industry needs and will enable apprentices to become fully qualified journeymen. The quality of apprenticeship can be raised by more careful selection of applicants for training, thus reducing the turnover among apprentices; by improving the job training and the related classroom instruction."

Although an epidemic of influenza was threatening to sweep the United States, there were few cases in Ohio and none reported in Marion county, Dr. J. W. Weiser, city health commissioner, stated.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Shackelford of Wildwood court and Mrs. W. E. Shackelford of East Mark street were guests of Mrs. W. E. Shackelford's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Shackelford of Columbus.

William J. Geer, attorney and for 36 years secretary of the Galion Building and Loan association, died at his home in Galion at the age of 70.

The land was owned by Leroy D. Zachman and the purchase was to involve the expenditure of about $4,000.

Mrs. Alice Dundore was hostess to the Ladies' Embroidery club circle at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. W. Kette of Hane avenue.

Announcement of the marriage of Miss Frances Jennings to Warren W. Ballentine, to take place Dec. 22, was made by Mrs. Francis B. Jennings when she entertained a company of friends at bridge at her home on South State street.

Great faith and courage give stability. We love people with convictions: "Be ye steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord."—I Cor. 5:58.

The Right To Be Wrong

By George E. Sokolsky

I CAME across a very good line by Eugen Kogon, a German author who had spent many years in Buchenwald for having been wrong in the selection of his parents. Kogon wrote:

"No statesman, no economist, no general, no teacher, no writer, nobody with common sense at all still would live in freedom, if erroneous ideas were to be punished with life imprisonment, or death. We would all have to jail and kill each other."

One of the most curious phenomena of our age is the tendency to deify man and to humanize God. It is in a measure responsible for the nihilism of our youth: They know that man is not God and when God is made to look like the blokes they see about them — they believe in nothing. Nevertheless, some very wrong ideas do persist. One of them is Hitler's "leadership" idea — the concept that those who emerge to power in the state are superior people.

• • •

JOURNALISTS, like myself, know those who rise to power well, as we see them go up the ladder. We see them when they fawn on every person who has a vote or a few inches of white paper on which to print their names. We see them when they begin to mimeograph their speeches, usually written by others. We see them when they are able to buy a better suit of clothes and when their wives begin to pin gardenias and then orchids on themselves. We see them when they catch the first rung up the ladder — and when a secretary answers the telephone. And then it is a sad story up to the place where a male secretary makes appointments with difficulty. At that point, the little feller thinks he is a man-god. Winston Churchill's classic remark concerning Sir Stafford Cripps: "There but for the grace of God, goes God," fits perfectly.

There comes a time when the public somehow begins to believe the big shot's conception of himself. His ideas take on an importance which is not inherent in them. His stupidities become the mark of genius. His brutalities are justified by his high purpose. He delivers cliches and the multitude cheers itself hoarse.

• • •

ARTHUR STRATTER, who is on the advisory council of the British zone of Germany, writing of the Nazi party, asks:

"Do you know today, at least in America, that hundreds of thousands of men and women entered the party out of fear of the party and only for the sake of being left in peace?"

Curiously, we went through something like that after the last election. On Monday night, they were speaking of the President as the "little haberdasher," but on Wednesday morning, he was "the champ." I am not discussing Mr. Truman's qualities; I am describing the curious attitude of people with false ideas or no ideas who always follow the current of the moment. They drift with the current, no matter where the current leads to. Maybe it is easier that way than to try to think things out.

• • •

IT IS WHAT the Communists call "the party line." All of a sudden, everybody seems to say the same thing. By this constant repetition of an identical attitude and statement, by what seems to be the preponderance of evidence, a wholly false idea can come to be accepted. For instance, as soon as Madame Chiang Kai-shek announced that she was coming to this country, an unbelievably ugly smear campaign started. The purpose was, of course, to increase the difficulties of her mission. But the problem that faced the United States at that moment was not the visit of Madame Chiang but the conquest of China by Soviet Russia.

It was on that question that a decision had to and still has to be made. History does not wait until the lazy-minded reach decisions. But the line was: smear the lady and give us time. Stalin made the line increasingly ridiculous by his victories. A wrong idea usually exposes itself.

New Model

By The Associated Press

BUENOS AIRES—It took hundreds of years, but somebody finally improved the wheelbarrow.

Engineer Arnold Schauer showed city officials his new model. Instead of having the wheel in front, it has it under the body. Schauer said this means the wheelbarrow chauffeur carries less load and the wheel itself carries more.

He who wishes to exert a useful influence must be careful to insult nothing. Let him not be troubled by what seems absurd, but consecrate his energies to the creation of what is good.—Goethe.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Letters for Special Delivery

TO THE AMERICAN AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY,

Gents

I don't get too hot and bothered by that Washington inquiry into auto agency practices in the auto shortage I suspect that many a man who can be loudest in his squawks against an auto dealer would, in a similar spot, be going after the last dollar, too, with gusto. The urge to make a fast buck is fairly general. Stacked right up beside the dealer who is out for all he can get I give you the customer who is not any too ethical.

• • •

For every dealer who takes your back teeth there are plenty of customers who resort to back alley negotiations, larcenous propositions and indiscriminate hocus pocus to get what they want when they want it. I have failed to run across a case where a car seeker yelled for the cops when discovering a way to get a new beach-wagon ahead of Joe Doakes. Nevertheless, the goings on in the retail auto business have not been free from bad smells. They are not good for the automobile industry. And since the industry has poured countless millions of dollars into the job of creating customer good will, I am flabbergasted that it hasn't gone all out to prevent this good will from being shot to bits.

• • •

No matter whether the dealer is more to blame than the customer, or vice versa, in the routine of forgotten priorities, low trade-in allowances, bribes, tips, etc., the public is sore. Almost from the time of the first horseless carriage, good will was the top aim of the auto industry. Dealers had to be warm, genial, popular figures in the community. And back of them stood the manufacturer shooting the wad to keep everybody happy.

• • •

An auto agent was one guy who could be depended on to go out of his way to be nice even to a perspective customer. He knew every prospect by his first name, kept his phone number handy and never forgot a face. He was extra liberal for years, in fact, and his liberality became a major headache to the trade. But all hands were out to cultivate and keep good will, come hell or highwater.

• • •

Then bang—look what happened! Due to the war and the car shortage, a situation developed which, let the blame fall where it may, changed the old time friendly dealer into a deep-freeze unit, transformed countless salesrooms into Polar icepacks and made the public sore as a pup at everybody from the phone girl in the town agency to the Detroit motor mogul himself.

• • •

Sure, the dealers have had their troubles. They have been in a tough spot. But why have they chilled up on Otis P. Karbuyer so much. Why that aloofness? Why those brutally low trade-in allowances? Why must the salesmen react to a guy opening the front door as if he were the community polecat. I'm only asking.

• • •

Mister Auto Manufacturer, you can do something. The dealers are not at heart bad guys. They will repent and revert to type if made to realize from the right quarters that they have been getting into bad habits. Maybe it needs a campaign of re-education with some movie of the old fashioned auto dealer and an illustrated talk on all the things he would rather do than go cold on a customer and lose the good will of even a distant prospect. How about it?

Yours for your own best interests,

ELMER

• • •

P.S.—I remember away back when no dealer was too busy to answer the phone unless a customer first briefed his secretary on who he was, and if so why. Them was the days, boys.

General Eisenhower's book on the war is a best seller. Lots of GI veterans of the conflict have been yearning to know just what happened in their many battles.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: Continuing the discussion we were having after Thanksgiving dinner, I notice that some of our better minds now are beginning to take second thought on the matter of "joining 'em if you can't lick 'em." Incidentally, we didn't see the last of the Thanksgiving turkey until the next Monday night when we boiled down the residue for soup.

On this matter of sticking by what you believe, I'm interested in the discovery by some of our analyzers that the Wallace crowd in politics this year made more progress with its platform than either of the two major parties. It apparently was Mr. Truman's success in winning Wallace's followers at the last minute that upset the predictions he would lose. The clue to what happened was the widely reported fact that Wallace was losing his followers; he lost them to Mr. Truman, who was bidding for them. Maybe the reason Mr. Truman was confident of winning when no one else thought he had a chance was because he knew that he was bidding successfully, but no one else did, except Wallace, who couldn't say anything.

However, that is incidental to what we were talking about, which was integrity of position in politics. Unless we can depend on that, elections will cease to mean anything. Voters will be denied the right to make up their minds on public issues. They will become more cynical every time they are reminded that candidates are more interested in getting elected than in sticking by their guns. They will say anything for a vote.

That wasn't the way Woodrow Wilson figured it when he ruined his health campaigning for the League of Nations, which he knew was a handicap. It's my guess that Herbert Hoover must have known in 1932 and thereafter that he could win back his popularity by joining the folks who wanted the government to take care of them. To cite a more recent illustration, I have no doubt that Bob Taft could get the snipers off his neck by pretending to surrender to their point of view. But I don't expect him to do it.

I wouldn't respect him if he did, and neither would the snipers. I want my politicians to believe in the same things tomorrow that they said they believed in yesterday. Once they start vacillating I'm trying to pick a winner out of a basket of eels, if you see what I mean. In other words, I want my politicians to do their own thinking. I don't want them to consider themselves loudspeakers for whatever bloc gets to them first.

I notice Winston Churchill has passed his 74th birthday and is still going strong. He lost his political popularity contest, but he hasn't lost his prestige in British politics. That's because he has been standing for the same principles so long he is a public institution. Winnie has lost a lot of elections in his time, but he still has his self-respect and the respect of his countrymen, who honor him for being a statesman, instead of just another politician willing to say anything or do anything to be popular.

We had a light snow here the other night, but it didn't amount to anything. I didn't even get out my sled. Regards to the family, and we'll see all of you at Christmas.

LIFTS CEILING ON LIQUOR LICENSES

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Dec 7 — Ohio's growing population is entitled to more liquor permits, a legal decision held today.

Common Pleas Judge Joseph M Clifford yesterday lifted ceilings for licenses in growing communities by ruling out use of 1940 census figures as a way to apportion the permits.

The decision says permits should be issued on the basis of present population figures.

Liquor department officials said they needed more time to study the decision and its effects. They agreed that 1940 census numbers could not be used and that applicants would have to prove increases in the various communities

Previously, the board had refused to issue a nightclub permit to John Toth, Sr., of Akron It explained that "the legal quota for D-5 permits in Akron had been filled" Toth who operates the Toth cafe then appealed to the common pleas court here which reversed the board's action

ONE REASON WHY

Folger's is THE Preferred Coffee Flavor!

RECORD COFFEE PRICE

Folger's pays highest price of century

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala, Nov. 12—Coffee sold here today for what was said to be the highest price paid in the twentieth century. Sanchez-Latour, acting for Folger's Coffee Company, bought 12,000 bags of Antigua Coffee practically the entire production of this famous coffee region.

Coffeemen said the record-breaking prices were due to the United States consuming more coffee now than the entire world did fifteen years ago.

Why Folger's Pays the Highest Price to get the World's Best Coffee for You

The Folger Flavor is not an accident. It is a carefully guarded combination of certain quality coffees to produce one very distinctive coffee flavor. This flavor cannot be produced from inferior coffees.

Since the difference in coffees is essentially a matter of flavor, that difference is a real measure of the worth of your purchase.

On a flavor and enjoyment basis Folger's Coffee at today's price continues to be the biggest bargain on your table.

Traffic Accident Rate Rises at Bucyrus

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — Although traffic accidents showed a decrease in Bucyrus in November, more traffic mishaps have occurred in the first 11 months of this year than were reported during all of 1947, Lt. Charles Ghist, Bucyrus police department safety officer, reported today.

The 25 accidents occurring last month brought the 1948 total up to 352 while 1947's grand total was only 345. In the first 11 months of 1947, only 321 accidents were reported to police.

Two traffic deaths have occurred during 1948, the same number as in 1947.

Lt. Ghist's survey showed that during this year the most accidents occurred in May, when 46 were reported, and the fewest in July when there were 24.

The New Governors

Bonner First Native To Govern Montana

(One of a series of 22 articles on new governors chosen in the November election.)

* * *

By The Associated Press

HELENA, MONT., Dec. 7— Montana will get its first home-grown governor, and one of its youngest, next January.

He is John W. Bonner, 46-year-old Helena Democrat, who surprised politicos by his overwhelming defeat of Republican Gov Sam C. Ford, a native of Kentucky. In his two-term, eight-year tenure Ford had built a reputation as one of Montana's most successful administrators.

Bonner, a husky six-footer, is a former elevator operator, miner, Indian reservation teacher and farm worker.

After getting his law degree from Montana university in 1928, Bonner practiced law in Butte for one year. Then he moved to Helena as counsel for the Montana highway commission and state railroad commission.

In 1940 he was elected state attorney general. One of his best cases was the winning of a Montana-New York battle over the $2,000,000 estate of Margaret Daly, widow of the copper king, Marcus Daly.

In 1942 Bonner took a major's commission in the Army. He collected evidence for war crimes cases and inspected German prison camps. At Buchenwald he and other Americans uncovered a cache containig $1,500,000 worth of loot.

After the war, Bonner resumed law practice here. He won a five-man primary election for nomination as governor last July.

In his general election campaign his most effective guns were leveled at the multi-million-dollar state liquor monopoly. Bonner asserted there were ugly rumors about the state liquor board's dealings, and he promised regular and complete reports to the public on the board's transactions.

Bonner had enthusiastic support from labor—and from his wife, who worked full time as his campaign adviser and assistant.

The Bonners have five children, ranging in age from 10 months to 18 years.

MARION WATER SUPPLY AMPLE

Ohio Resources Board's Engineer Issues Report on Ohio Reserves.

Marion countians need have no anxiety about whether or not their wells will run dry, according to a report of water deposits just released by C. V. Youngquist, of Columbus, chief engineer of the Ohio Water Resources Board.

Marion county's underlying water supply is described as follows in the report; "most dependable supplies from underlying dolomite and limestone.

The Marion county area is not threatened with an underground water shortage such as threatens the Mill Creek valley, an industrial section near Cincinnati. Here a daily consumption of 14 million gallons a day while the safe water yield is only 11 million gallons a day. Conservation measures are reducing daily consumption toward the 11 million gallon figure, Mr. Youngquist reports.

A comparison of local water supplies in Marion with those of neighboring counties, may be drawn from the following excerpts from Mr. Youngquist's report:

Seneca county (Tiffin and Fostoria). Fair supplies from thick drift and from limestone and dolomite. Pumping causes fluctuation but wells recover quickly.

Knox county (Mt. Vernon). Gravels underlying streams are capable of large scale development in many places. Good yields from glacial till and sandstone bed rock. Wells higher in 1947 than in 1946. About two million gallons a day industrial pumpage.

Hancock county (Findlay). Good supplies from the thickest glacial drifts. Moderate amounts from underlying limestone and dolomite. Waterworks wells fluctuate widely from heavy pumping.

Richland county (Mansfield). Valley gravels are chief water sources. Industrial pumpage about 7½ million gallons a day. Well levels are not declining.

Franklin county (Columbus). Largest supplies in glacial sand and gravels in buried valleys. Average pumpage about 30 million gallons a day. Water in limestone under main business section of Columbus is apparently being depleted at present rate of pumping. Large supplies can be developed along Big Walnut Creek.

Allen county (Lima). Fairly level trend in spite of heavy pumping, averaging nearly 8 million gallons a day, mostly from limestone bed rock.

Lucas county (Toledo) Water supplies in glacial drift and dolomites. No indication of change in well levels. Average industrial pumpage about six million gallons daily.

Dear Mother, no more upon this earth
We'll see your smiling face,
No one in this world could ever take your place
God takes our loved ones from our homes
But never from our hearts.
It was so hard to say goodbye,
But we had to part
Rest, dear Mother, your work is done,
And we will meet you up in heaven
When life's race is run.
